

2011 CLINICAL TRIALS HONOUR ROLL

INTERNATIONAL CLINICAL TRIALS DAY, 20 MAY 2011

INTRODUCTION

Medical research is widely recognised by the community as a valuable service. Clinical trials are a subset of human research involving an intervention that provide the evidence to translate ideas and discoveries into clinical practice. A variety of stakeholders, both volunteer and professional, must work together in partnership to make clinical trials happen. Without scientists, investigators, nurses, funding, infrastructure and equipment, regulatory and ethical oversight, collaboration, monitoring and human volunteers, contributing time and resources to clinical trials, medicine would not advance as quickly or as safely.

This Honour Roll provides the opportunity to celebrate all the individuals and organisations that have nominated themselves or others for their contribution to clinical trials over the past year. A special congratulations goes to Mrs Margaret Morton who has won the ARCS Australia sponsored award of the Most Nominated Individual in Australia on the 2011 Honour Roll.

Congratulations to everyone for your contribution to clinical trials. The entire community benefit from your contributions to and achievements in research.

Thanks also to our financial and in-kind supporters, without whom the Honour Roll would not be possible. We hope more will join this list of inspired organisations committed to the value of clinical trials and recognising those involved in the future.
